People are finicky about where they get their information
Especially when it comes to politics or sex.

The Pulpit and the prostitute truly supply the world's forums.

What if I told you to succeed in politics all you needed was
A bunch of votes based on a controversial platform? True.

What if I told you all you need to succeed with women are
A kind word and maybe a Diet Cola and a Cheeseburger?
Again, mostly True.

Getting this info might be a little tricky from the pulpit,
However, it is a well known fact that many have proven
It works, straight from the pulpit.

Politics is a whole 'nother thang. Politics is not based on
True or false in most cases, it is more a public wave of Approval from either on popularity or ignorance.

The knowledge that comes from within is called intuition.
The self confidence comes from using that very tool.

Sincerely knowing what you want and sincerely interested
In supplying what others want is the key to success.

Begin an inventory of your brainpower, looks and wardrobe.
Now, discount just about everything you believe you need to Succeed.

You can dress out of style and yet carry yourself with a
Certain kind of confidence, confidence that 'carries' you.

You do not have to be a genius or gift of gab to score with
The most beautiful girl in the room, or get elected to office!

Now, I stop. Because you are most definitely saying, show
Me the proof of these very profound statements. There is Only you and only you can know if these words are true.

Prove what I say to Yourself.

Then come back for more – the secret to the universe,
Kindness, and a diet cola and a cheeseburger. (Jimmy Buffett had it going all along, we just didn't get it!)